SELL IT! WORDS TO SAY

Cooking for a crowd is easy when you have the Princess Heritage 20-Quart Stockpot. This extra large professional quality Stockpot holds a dozen ears of corn or a double recipe of chili—a real time saver. The tempered glass lid with our exclusive Princess Heritage design lets me check on the food without uncovering the Stockpot, preserving moisture and nutrients. I prepare large quantities of my family's favorite foods, divide them into meal-sized portions then freeze them in Princess Heritage or Fantasia® cookware. For easy workday meals, I can just heat them up and serve!

Our beautiful and exclusive products are the foundation of your business. And to effectively build upon this foundation, you need to KNOW your products and provide the answers to the questions your customers ask, such as, "What makes Princess Heritage Stainless Steel so special? Why shouldn't I just go to the department store and buy cookware?" Or "I really don't have time to book a party. What can Princess House offer me that I can't get at the mall?" When you know the details about your Princess House products, you can answer with assurance and pride that you are providing high quality, high value products that are available nowhere else!

To help you learn all you can about your Princess House products, access the downloadable product knowledge pages in Consultant's Corner. These pages will allow you to create a "library" of product information that you can review, learn, and file for reference. And don't forget to direct all your new Lifestyle Consultants to these pages to help them quickly achieve success.

There are quite a few product knowledge pages available to you, and they will continue to grow until every product has a page for you to reference, but most importantly, you can access all the new Period 9, 2004, products, as well as every product available in both Starter Kits. You'll also find helpful information about some of our best selling product lines! So, log-in to Consultant's Corner today and get to know your products!
